

School Matters

The Weekly Newsletter from Newton Poppleford School

Friday 12th June 2020

Welcome back to School Matters, which is now appearing weekly.

It is lovely for all the staff to see more children back in school and to hear the sounds of them at break times. We are very much looking forward to welcoming back some of the Year 1 children next week, even if things are very different for both staff and students with all the requirements we have to follow.

I am sure you will have seen this week, that the Government have cancelled their plans to have all other Primary school years back in school for the final few weeks of this term. Like all schools we are now awaiting guidance on what the government plans are for school opening in September. Currently, I can tell you that no details have been shared with schools about this. Indeed, we have heard no information about when we will hear about this. As soon as we are given any information I will, of course, communicate our plans to you as soon as possible.

I have also enjoyed seeing the various pieces of work that have been submitted by children doing the home learning. In particular, I have seen some amazing art projects going on in all the year groups – what talented children there are in our school.

My thanks again to all the parents who have been supporting their children at this time with their learning.

Stay safe.
